DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the material to the structure other than the release lever such as a connection to a brake a saw housing , brake etc. must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Art Unit: 3724

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Applicant states that the claims are for a brake release but then describes considerable structure in the claims that is other than the brake release. For example see claim 2. Is only a release being claimed?

Claims 1-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter that was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Applicant claims a complete saw in claims 21-40 and a release and perhaps other saw structure in claims 1-20. The disclosure fails to show or describe a complete brake system in a chain saw. What type of brake, brake actuator, connection between the brake actuator and brake are being claimed? What do these parts look like and how are they to be assembled? This missing structure appears to be more than what would be obvious to supply.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-2, 9-22, 29-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Casas (2002/0054491) in view of Cool (5,101,567). Casas shows a saw with a light in the brake activating (release) handle. Casas is silent as to the details of the mounting of the light in the brake lever. Cool shows mounting an electrical switch in a brake actuating lever. This mount provides a secure connection between the switch and the handle. Further the size of the switch is on same order as the light of Casas. Thus one of ordinary skill in the art that wanted to mount the light of Casas by some means would obviously use the mounting suggested by Cool. The various claimed LEDs and switches are old and would be an obvious matter to be determined by an artisan. The power sources are old and would be an obvious matter of choice, absent a showing of criticality, to be determined by an artisan.

Claims 3-8, 23-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Casas (2002/00544567) and Cool (5,101,567) as applied to claims 1, 21 above, and further in view of Lin (6,135,608). Lin shows the use of a translucent cover for a lighted tool. The cover protects the as well as transmitting it. Obviously one of ordinary skill in the art would use a cover of the type shown by Lin for the device of Casas to protect the light bulb. The exact old material to be used, absent a showing of criticality, would appear to be an obvious matter to be determined by an artisan.
